

EHDD Interior Internship Program

EHDD is a national leader in architecture, design, and sustainability with expertise in a variety of typologies ranging from workplace, libraries, educational facilities, housing, as well as museums, aquariums, and zoos. In our rich, 75-year history, we have developed an award-winning practice that integrates planning, technology, and the user experience. We work not from preconceived ideas, but from a belief in the primacy of the user and intensive collaboration with clients and consultants. We are good listeners who foster a working environment of mutual respect and amiability.

We are looking for students that are enthusiastic, dedicated, and passionate about interior design, interior architecture, and sustainability to participate in the EHDD Internship Program. EHDD offers paid, full-time in both the San Francisco and Seattle offices. In-person attendance will be required for the duration of the internship pending no changes to COVID-related protocols, in which case we would switch to hybrid or fully remote work. Interns should be in year 3 or higher undergraduate program or have completed 1 year in a graduate program in interior design or interior architecture. Recently graduated students will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

EHDD takes pride in its people and considers itself a teaching office. We are committed to giving interns a meaningful variety of experiences that provide exposure to many different aspects of the profession. Interns work as active members of a project team and are encouraged to attend meetings and site visits. They will participate in the iterative process as we synthesize sustainability, program, stakeholder feedback, and other criteria into a timeless design. During the internship, interns are also asked to give a presentation to the office on a topic of their interest. Internship openings are available throughout the year, Jan-May (Spring Term), June-August (Summer Term), Sept-Dec (Fall Term). We also offer a longer-term materials library internship for interior design students. Please note in your cover letter if this is of interest to you.
